

Biography

Shopping for greenery	After speaking at California Gift Show	Picking up supplies at JDW	Being interviewed after a Speaker's Conference

Flora Morris Brown is an author, coach, speaker, radio host, entrepreneur, mom of four and grandma of three. She has impacted the lives of students, educators, business owners, leaders and many audiences during her 40+ year career. Her passion for encouraging people to make choices that lead to their happiness began when she was a junior high inner city English teacher and continued to grow deeper as she worked with university students, her own private tutoring program, and with retailers and business owners.

While she was teaching full-time at Fullerton College in the Humanities Division, she also operated a successful gift basket business and helped found a gift basket professionals network. She was featured in a number of industry articles and offered seminars for the LA Gift Mart and California Gift Show.

She is currently a Professor Emeritus at Fullerton College and hosts the Internet radio show, Color Your Life Happy, www.BlogTalkRadio.com/florabrown, broadcasted live from Anaheim every Monday morning at 11AM PST.

Dr. Brown stimulates an audience with her lively and entertaining presentations. She reaches her audiences where they are and shows them how to get to where they want to be. She also delivers conducts seminars, workshops and offers personal growth coaching.

Her educational background as a USC graduate includes a BA in English with a minor in Drama, a M.S. in Education with a specialization in reading, and a Ph.D. in Curriculum and Instruction.

She has written language arts texts, academic articles, curriculum, grant proposals, and motivational guides. She maintains a number of websites, two blogs and publishes two weekly newsletters.

Her book, Color Your Life Happy: Create the Success, Abundance and Inner Joy You Deserve, promotes making choices that give you the life you want. Here's what one review said about the book.

“We have coached hundreds of individuals who were emotionally devastated living ‘life.’ They were far from being able to see or feel joy. Flora has put together a tremendous tool to help people experience the joy beyond the pain. Her passionate joy for life will spill over and touch many people in a profound way.” Richmond and Debbie Caldwell, speakers and authors of Changing Your Heart.

Color Your Life Happy is available on and off line from all major booksellers.

The philosophy she lives by is "Nobody becomes somebody without the help of somebody else."